The opportunity

Our Telecoms team act for more than 6,000 land and property owners who have telecommunication radio base stations on their land and buildings, providing expert advice and dealing with all aspects of their management.

As a Graduate Telecoms Surveyor, you will take instructions from and report to external clients throughout the UK. Duties will include but are not limited to:

- Undertaking all aspects of landlord advisory telecoms work including the negotiation of new site agreements, lease renewals, rent reviews, ad hoc advice to landlords and lift and shift of telecoms apparatus.
- Assisting other members of the team as and when required.
- Promotion of the telecoms business to the wider landlord market

The successful candidate will...

- Ideally, have a property management related university degree, although candidates from other degree disciplines will be considered too. We will sponsor your part time MSc if do not have a RICS accredited degree.
- Be committed to continuing your studies to become chartered with RICS
- Be able to communicate effectively, knowledgeably, and clearly with our landlord clients and external parties such as lawyers.
- Have the ability to work to tight timescales and produce well written and thoroughly researched reports and advice.
- Have good negotiation skills.
- Have an understanding of valuation and application thereof.
- Be able to prioritise and manage a high case load.
- By the time the role starts, have access to transport as you will be required to travel to client sites often in out-of-town locations.
- Be ready to be on site in all weathers, travelling across the region or further afield and working outside of the normal 9-5 when required.

What's in it for you?

- £26,000 starting salary
- Relocation allowance (terms apply)
- Tailored time and hybrid working
- Enrolment on our successful graduate training programme with excellent APC support
- 25 days annual leave, and all bank holidays off
- Your birthday off
- Regular company social and sporting events, including inter-offices tournaments
