

Rural Graduate Surveyor 2023

Stags are looking to recruit a rural practice graduate surveyor(s) to start in September 2023. The position will be within our Professional Services department and will include hands on client facing work from the start. There will be a broad spectrum of work which could include:

- Formal “Red Book” Valuations
- Estate Management
- Property Sales and Lettings
- Planning
- Landlord & Tenant
- Compulsory Purchase
- Grants and Subsidies

We strongly believe that it is important for Graduates to gain a broad range of hands-on experience and therefore also arrange for them to spend time in other departments to provide a breadth of experience. This will not only be essential in working towards their professional exams but will also help them to work out what type of work they enjoy.

Training and Support

We appreciate the importance of good training and support for our trainees and so have a structured APC training programme which includes training days and regular meetings with a designated Supervisor, Counsellor and in-house APC Assessor.

We will pay for RICS and CAAV membership and the cost of your first APC assessment and CAAV exam. You will also be offered up to five days study leave.

About Us

Stags is a multi-disciplinary firm of Chartered Surveyors which has been operating in the South-West of England since 1874. As well as being leading Estate Agents in the region, the firm has an established Professional Services division which provides a range of technical advice and professional services to landowners, farmers, property owners, investors and professionals.

We have 21 offices across the region including five Professional Services “hubs” located in Wellington, Tiverton, Exeter, Totnes and Launceston from which we cover the whole of the West Country.

Application Process

We are looking for ambitious and enthusiastic applicants who are keen to build a career with Stags. Applicants will ideally be studying a RICS accredited degree with relevant work experience or placements. Applicants must have a full UK driving licence.

To apply please send your CV and cover letter to Matthew Wilcox at m.wilcox@stags.co.uk. The closing date for applications is 5pm on 2nd December 2022.
