

Independent Agronomist – Kent / East Sussex

CCC provides an independent agronomy service for clients across the South of England. Established in 1985 we have a unique format in that all clients are shareholders and the board of directors responsible for running the business are farmers.

We have exciting opportunity for a trainee agronomist to join the team, build on your agronomy experience and create a long-term career with one of South England's leading independent agronomy businesses.

At CCC we are technically led, utilising independent trials data from AICC trials network and our own local trials. We are a genuinely people focused organisation with family values and a desire to see all its employees succeed in their careers through continual development.

The Role/Candidate

- Provide agronomy to a portfolio of clients on a range of crops.
- Degree in Agriculture, Agronomy or equivalent.
- FACT's and BASIS qualified although not essential for trainee position.
- Extensive training program provided for trainee (AICC Academy, 1-2-1 field based training and formal qualifications).
- Personable and engaging with an ability to build rapport with clients and colleagues.
- Attention to detail essential.
- Self-motivated and excellent communicator.
- IT skills – proficient with MS Office and industry software.
- Genuine interest in crop production, regenerative agriculture and the environment.

Good competitive salary, company benefits and the advantages of working for a people focused, successful business.
