Closing date: Not specified, apply soon!

We are looking for a number of enthusiastic Field Ecologists to help us with our busy field survey season.

You will need to have/be working towards a qualification in Ecology or a related field and ideally have experience of protected species survey, however we are able to provide relevant training for a limited number of surveyors to carry out some aspects of survey work under licences held by our experienced staff.

There are also opportunities for people without existing survey experience to accompany our surveyors for health and safety reasons.

If we do not have immediate assignments for suitably qualified candidates then details will be kept on a database to enable us to match candidates to assignments throughout the survey season. For candidates that show the right skills and attitude, there may be the opportunity for future employment.

Rates will be agreed on a project by project basis.

You will need:

- A full clean driving licence
- Your own car
- A mobile phone which you would be willing to use to liaise with the office
- Willingness to work independently
- Some sites require a CSCS card, so this would be an advantage
